A WORTHY COUPLE HONORED.

A Double Celebration Held at St.
Joseph's Hall Thursday Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Grandchamp were greatly honored and pleasantly entertained Thursday evening by Notre Dame parish and choir, the occasion being the 25th anniversary of their marriage and also the 25th anniversary of Mr. Grand-champ's connection with the choir.

The gathering was held in St. Joseph's hall, the use of which was freely given by Rev. Fr. Burke, who also honored the occasion by his presence. There was a large attendance. An address from the parish was read by Joseph Grandon. It contained expressions of hearty congratulations on the prosperity
which has attended Mr. and Mrs. Grandchamp during their 25 years of married life and also alluded in appreciative way to Mr. Grand-champ's long service in the choir, which has been freely and cheerfully given.
Mr. Grandchamp then received a present of $185 silver dollars from the parish, and from the choir he received a silver tray containing $15. He responded feelingly to the friends who had remembered him
and his good wife so generously, and Rev.
Fr. Jeannotte also made a few timely and appreciative remarks.

The choir sang two selections, "O Canada," in French, and "Praise Ye the Lord," in English. Solos were sung by Mrs. Louis Lord, Mrs. A. N. Gelineau,
Professor Paule and G. A. Demerloo.
Mrs. Clairmont, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grandchamp, played the accompaniments on the piano. The musical part of the entertainment was given under the direction of Joseph Brodeur, organist of the French church. Mr. Demers and Joseph Clement gave an amusing dialogue,
"We Want an Actor," in French, and the entire program was greatly enjoyed by the large company.

Refreshments were served and cigars
were passed, and it was nearly midnight
before the hall was cleared. The affair was a high compliment to Mr. and Mrs.
Grandchamp, who fully appreciate all that was said and done for them by their many friends. In addition to the other gifts they received from the Sisters of St.
Anne a beautiful picture.

SOME HEAVY SENTENCES.

Bennington County Offenders Get
Heavy Punishment.

The county court at Manchester, Vt., adjourned today after making it very unpleasant for a number of criminals. W.
L. Sumner of Stamford was a petit jury-man, Arthur Bratton of Stamford was a grand jurymen and Sheriff Morrissey was present at the court and had charge of the grand jury.

Knap, the Bennington highway robber, pled guilty and was sentenced to state prison for 10 years. He was caught last Tuesday and got his sentence
last Friday.

Norman Munson who committed rape
on a 11-year old girl in the town of Sand-gate was given eight years in state prison.
He is a hard drinker, and committed the crime while this little girl was bringing him food in a hiding place where he was avoiding New York state officers.

B. S. Roberts of Dorset got a $150 fine and 30 days in the Bennington house of correction for illegal liquor selling.

The colored burglar and chloroformer,
Bradshaw, who committed his crime in
Vt. hall, got 25 years in the penitentiary.
The case of Clarence Bullock of Reads-boro for assault went over to the next term.

A Berkshire Chapter Organized.

The formal organization of a chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution occurred Thursday morning at the Pittsfield house, under a charter granted by the state secretary. Wellington Smith of Lee was elected president; John M. Stevenson of Pittsfield, A. J. McCallum of Savoy, Charles E. Evans of Great Barrington, vice-presidents; Rollin H. Cook of Pittsfield, secretary and registrar; D.
M. Peck of Pittsfield, treasurer; Dr. J. F.
A. Adams of Pittsfield, historian; Rev.
Dr. L. B. Rowland of Lee, chaplain; W.
Richmond of North Adams, James W. Hull of Pittsfield, Kaye Dauforth of Williamstown, F. J. Barrett of Lenox, Allen T. Treadway of Stockbridge, managers. There was a good attendance and a banquet followed after business.

The Work to Proceed.

Work on the Sullivan block, which has been delayed by various circumstances, will begin again in a few weeks. The plans did not conform strictly to the building ordinance, but it was supposed a special permit would be granted. This was refused, but the city council changed
the ordinance and the building can now be erected on the original plan. Until this was done Sullivan Bros., did not feel warranted in giving orders for materials
and consequently a delay in their operations was unavoidable. The work will be moving again in two or three weeks.

Pupils' Outing.

The teachers of the State street school took their pupils for a trolley ride to Adams and Williamstown this afternoon.
Mrs. Billings' school enjoyed a picnic at Hosack Valley park. The cars were decorated with flags, bunting and flowers
and the pupils had a very happy time.

Mrs. L. C. Banz and her sister, Mrs. C.
A. Sharp of Racineville, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Rand's daughter, Mrs. L. E. Vincent
at Ashcroft.

"LABOR OMNIA VINCIT."

Such is the Motto of the Graduating Class of '97, Grammar Department, Drury Academy.

The G. A. R. Memorial hall was prettily decorated this afternoon with ferns,

ened and the electric lights were burning.
The occasion was the graduation of 69
pupils from the ninth grade, or grammar department, into the high school proper.

Awarding of diploma.

The first tableau was given in two scenes, five of the class, four boys and one girl taking part. The first scene represented "Pomahontas's Capture," the second "Pomahontas's Release."

The second tableau was a representation of the meeting of Queen Elizabeth and Mary, Queen of Scots.

The class in which the girls, as usual, predominate, is made up of an exceedingly bright and intelligent lot of boys and girls. Their parents and friends should feel proud of the auspicious manner in which they are ushered into the last epoch
of their public school life.

Supt. Isaac Freeman Hall presented the diploma.

Following is the class poem written by Nellie Walley:

We gather here with joyful hearts,
To celebrate this day;
In this Memorial day hall,
How can we be but gay,
We're about to leave our teachers dear,
We've been so kind and true;
We leave them now and onward press,
To take up something new.

Success has always crowned our work,
When we have done our part;
Our teachers have shown us how
To work with soul and heart,
O, let us always strive to aim
At purity and truth,
We'll never regret the lessons learned
While we were in our youth.

Our four years' course will soon begin,
With thanksgiving and prayer;
And ever let our standard be
To work and think and try,
So new day friends we bid adieu,
And mindful of the lessons learned,
"Labor conquers all."

IMPORTANT DECISION.

A Judgment at Washington Today

Puts Newspaper Men Beyond

Legal Questionings.

Washington, June 18.—John S. Shriver, correspondent of the New York Mail and Express today was declared not guilty of contempt in refusing to answer questions of the senate committee in relation to sugar trust investigation. A Mr. Shriver was the fourth of the alleged tea citra witnesses. Messrs. Havemeyer and Seares, president and secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, both having been discharged, while Broker Chapman was convicted and served one month in jail.

Judge Bradley handed his decision in Shriver's case on two points: first, that the witness had not been legally summoned; second, that the questions asked him were not pertinent. The contention of the senate committee that newspaper men are privileged the same as
are communicants to priests, lawyers and physicians, the court refused to sus-tain.

But as the court did on the other hand hold that to ask the witness the name of his informant was not a pertinent question, the counsel for the defense now believe that a precedent is established which virtually brings newspaper witnesses within the privileged class. Had the correspondent given the name of the congressman who was his informant, it doubtless might have been convenient to the committee enabling them to summon the congressman.

"The defendant," concluded the judge,
"was not guilty of contempt," and the jury was ordered to return a verdict of acquittal. Verdict was rendered without the jury leaving the box.

In speaking of the decision rendered by Judge Bradley in the Shriver case this morning, Judge Dittenhofer, one of his colleagues, said: "We consider it a great victory for the newspaper profession.
While the judge held that in the absence of legislation on by congress granting to newspaper men the privilege of refusing to disclose confidential communications was not prepared to hold that such privileges existed."

By his decision that it could not be pertinent or relevant to any issue,
either in court or before a legislative committee, to compel a newspaper man to give the name of his informant, the same result was practically reached. The protection of press law under this decision obtains virtually the privilege of refusing to disclose the name of an informant, but under a different legal principle, to wit, that such evidence is not pertinent or relevant. This was one of the principal points discussed by Judge Wilson and myself before Judge Bradley."

Sec'y. Sherman Approves.

Washington, June 18.—In view of false statements sent out from Washington as to his position on the Hawaiian question, Secretary Sherman said today to an Associated Press reporter that as a rule he opposed the United States acquiring outlying territory, but the condition of the Hawaiian islands is exceptional on account of the claim of Japan, and he therefore approved the treaty making the islands a possession of the United States, but not entitled to admission as a state.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

The Victim of Which is Said to Have
Once Been a North Adams Woman.

A terrible crime was committed by a Japanese steward on the United States monitor Puritan Thursday evening in which the victim was a woman who is reported to have lived in this city
formerly and who now has a little child
here as well as a sister.

Wau Chita, a Japanese, 30 years old, is the steward on the Puritan. A year ago he married Ida Spangerey, a handsome widow, who with her husband once lived here. Wau Chita has always been very jealous of his wife. They lived in Green Lane, New York city.

Mrs. Chita was attacked with a razor by her husband because of a quarrel growing out of her accidentally having broken some vases. She jumped through a window to the street below after being slashed by her husband, who then cut his own throat. Both were taken to a hospital and are in a precarious condition. The man cannot live and there is little hope of the woman's life being saved.

The New York World today says the woman had just returned from North Adams, where she had been to see her little child. Inquiry here has so far failed to give any trace of the woman or her reported connections.

BURNED TO DEATH

KETTLE OF RED HOT LARD

Mrs. Mary Starkweather, Cook at the Richmond House, Burned to a Crisp.

Spills on the Woman and She is Instantly in Flames. Before Relief Comes Her Clothing is Consumed and Flesh Drops Off.

It was a horrible accident which befell Mrs. Mary Starkweather in the kitchen of the Richmond House at 515 o'clock this morning. The lady, who has been for some time cook at the hotel, was frying some doughnuts in a kettle filled with boiling lard. In some way the kettle tipped, spilling the lard on the red hot stove and thence to her clothing. In an instant the woman was aflame from foot to head.

Her agonizing shrieks were heard by the porter of the hotel, Patrick Mulqueen, who ran to the assistance of the unfortunate woman, then a pillar of flames. He threw her to the floor and rolled her over in an unsuccessful attempt to smother the flames, the woman meanwhile begging piteously for help. Mulqueen called for help and together with Sylvanus Sannocci, a bus driver, secured blankets from the horse barn across the alley from the hotel. With these blankets the flames were put out, but by this time the poor woman's clothing was in ashes and her body a mass of burns from top to bottom.

Dr. Riley who was in the hotel was called and with the assistance of the porter and others assisted the terribly burned woman to a mattress and carried her to her room. Dr. Stafford was summoned and the two physicians did everything possible to relieve the intense suffering of the nearly dead woman. Soothing ointments were applied and the body swathed from head to foot. Fully four-fifths of the cuticle is burned off, some of the burns being very deep near vital points. In places the skin and flesh dropped off and from the palms of the hands the skin peeled off whole.

The unfortunate woman is 67 years old and well known here as a woman of unimpeachable character. She is sister of Samuel Starkweather of Williamstown, Mrs. Royal Wilcox of Jacksonville, Mrs. R. P. Crafts of Holyoke and Mrs. Eliza Wendell of North Adams. Her relatives were immediately summoned to her bedside.

Mrs. Starkweather died at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

"NORTH ADAMS"

A Wagner Conductor Who May Have Settled Some Politics.

[From the Boston Advertiser]

A little incident happened on Saturday which may have a bearing on the president of the next state senate. It was not a very exciting affair, but it served to break the monotony of the five-hour ride between Boston and North Adams.

It was on the Wagner car which left Boston at 3 p. m., and President Lawrence and the Wagner car conductor took part. The session was just over, and though he was tired both from packing up his own belongings at the hotel and in clearing up his desk at the state house, which had kept him busy every moment since he woke up Saturday morning, he was all done for the year.

He had a good deal of baggage to take home with him, the chief parcel, of course, containing that very handsome silver loving cup presented to him by his colleagues and inscribed duly as a gift "To the Honorable George F. Lawrence," with a lot of other pleasant phrases and adjectives and complimentary things on it.

Then the session had been a pleasant one, and people had said nice things, and altogether Mr. Lawrence, feeling very properly and justly proud of himself and of his services to the state, was delivering his informal valedictory as we rolled along through the beautiful green valleys toward the Berkshire mountains.

Along came the conductor, President Lawrence gets out his pocketbook and offers the fare.

"Where?" said the conductor.

"North Adams, 75c," says President Lawrence, with the air of the oldest inhabitant.

The conductor stops, fumbles, gets out a little book, which apparently contains a list of stations and amount of fare, and hunts in it with a blind and puzzled look.

"Where did you say?" said he to the president again.

"North Adams," said Mr. Lawrence with some horror and a little more emphasis, promptly.

And the conductor turned back to the little book, still hunting without apparently being able to locate it.

Then, I fear, that he had not heard correctly, shouted "North Adams" very loudly and very distinctly.

President Lawrence's amazement was more eloquent than a megaphone.

The conductor, becoming somewhat dazed, helplessly replied, "Oh, yes sir, yes sir, I don't doubt your word at all."

Then President Lawrence broke in, "It's NORTH ADAMS, the first station beyond the tunnel, the FINEST city in this, the western part of the state."

The conductor grew red and somewhat apologetic.

"You see, it's my first trip on the road," said he, "and I never heard of the place before. I don't doubt your word, but really I didn't catch the name."

President Lawrence tried to become properly indignant over the terrible ignorance of the conductor and succeeded most admirably, except when the situation came over him.

"Keep up, keep up, you still have the loving cup," said the rest of the group in the smoker.

But this anti-climax on the pyramid of fame may be just the last brick which builds up a public man's decision.

It would not be the strangest thing on earth if "Judge" Lawrence felt it necessary to return to Beacon Hill until he had vindicated the fame of North Adams by making it known even to newly imported Wagner car conductors.

THE MAN ON THE CORNER

And What He Says.

That I must have hit someone quite hard last week.

The President Lawrence is smiling—that watermelon smile—yet he isn't saying a word.

That Harry Famer has a bee in his hat.

That there must have been lots of sick nesses in this city last month—see the drug store liquor books if you don't believe it.

That it is about time someone was beginning to pose for the mayor's chair.

Send in your names.

That Charley Berry is becoming a regular Chesterfield in his manner.

That the board of health should visit some of the tenement sections of North Adams and see the condition of the back yards and alleys. Some are deplorably dirty.

That Dentist White is a great favorite of water, but prefers not to have it come through the ceiling to him when he is not in his office.

That one of the postoffice clerks seems to be quite a favorite, judging from the number of handsome bouquets he has received of late.

That the wine clerks have a handball team that is open for all comers, and well they might be for they play very fast ball.

That age has very little to do with nerve, as was demonstrated the other day when two 12-year-old boys entered the home of one of our brave blue coats and never disturbed his quiet slumbers. The clutches of the law must have some rest, even in North Adams.

That Umpire Ryan is not "so many" since the game with the Williams college team on Wednesday so Manager Lawson says.

That I haven't heard a word about a civil service examination for the successor of Foreman Burns on the public works.

That certain plumbers are making an awful kick on the new school house contracts for plumbing.

That there are two and three families living in one tenement in this city and paying only for one faucet.

That something should be done about vandalism in the cemetery and the guilty parties caught if possible.

That those bicycle riders who scorch on our main streets should remember that there are others in the city even if they don't own bicycles.

That people who read library books should refrain from sending children to take out new books. They cause any amount of unnecessary work for the librarian from their lack of knowledge of what they want.

That Baseball Motz has made the biggest show in the city since the Robinson Brothers were here.

That a number of our drug stores have a large supply of pins and half pints flecks which they will soon sell at a sacrifice.

That the time tower which was promised North Adams about a year ago has not put in its appearance yet. Have its donors forgotten that any such thing was ever spoken of?

That the man who pays $2,000 a year for the sale of liquor should be allowed fully as many privileges as the one who only pays $1.

That I understand that the janitorship of the Union school has been promised, another retirement from active private pursuits to the pension list of the city.

That a 10-bushel basket would hardly cover Mr. Macdonald's head since "I passed the libel law."

That the merchants in Wilson block can not appreciate the city officials' kindness in keeping people from driving up to their scores for 10 days by placing curbstones there long before they were needed.

That there is no Saul and Jonathan love in our board of assessors.

That the new valuations in the center of the city are likely to look some smaller than Greylock to certain property owners.

That the city authorities who refused to grant fourth class licenses are feeling that they did it unto themselves and did it bad. That even some of the clergy feel that they ran their heads into a corner.

That there is some plumbing in one of the new school houses that will bear investigation.

That the street railway is not particularly feeling as to criticism.

STABBING AFFRAY.

An Italian Bootblack Knifes a Pittsfield Drunken Hobo.

A stabbing affray took place at the Union station on Thursday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. A rough looking customer by the name of Augustus Blonde, hailing from Pittsfield got into Vincenzo Braica's shoe shining chair and essayed to use the shoe shining utensils. Braica protested and then emphasized his protest with a tap on Blonde's arm with a little thing like a railroad coupling pin. In the melee that followed Braica stabbed Blonde in the center of the forehead with a jack knife, cutting to the bone. The knife in Braica's hand also cut his own finger a deep gash.

Eugene Reardon, giving his residence as Cohasset, and knocked Blonde down help Braica, and was captured on State street by Chief Kendall in person. The police took all the men to the police station where Dr. Dewey dressed Braica and Blonde's wounds. A charge of assault with a dangerous weapon was preferred against the Italian bootblack, while Reardon was detained as participant criminal.

The chief articles found on the person of Blonde were a bottle of 40 rod whiskey and package of soiled letters, on Braica's person a little money and considerable Italian cunning and treachery.

THE ARTISTIC AT THE COST OF THE COMMONPLACE

Green & Waterman,

For twenty five years F. Green and Decorators, 281 B. or street, 100 N. Y. (See list of follow up suggestions at this time)

The impending rise in the American tariff will seriously affect lace, French wall papers and many drapery goods. It is possible to place orders now for work to be done in the summer or early fall, and save at least one third of the cost at that time. We study all these economies in the interest of our customers and would recommend placing orders for later delivery at present prices, as we store the goods without charge and with in the work has advanced to the stage where they are needed they will be ready without a day's delay.

We have produced recently some very inexpensive but beautiful effects in interior decoration, employing paper mache relief upon the ceiling, and covering the walls with silk tapestry or one of our artistic and exclusive French effects in wall paper. These efforts from the standpoint of low cost, justify our statement that it is possible now with us to obtain the most artistic and advanced interiors at the cost of the hackneyed and commonplace.

Our large business in ordered cabinet work enables us to quote very low prices in this department. On wood mantels, paneling, and posted ceilings wainscoting and oak floors we shall be pleased to submit estimates and can guarantee very close figures. Special furniture designed and built to order. Old historical pieces reproduced at low cost. A postal card will bring a member of our firm to make suggestions and give estimates. June 1915, 1917.

COMMUNICATION.

Another Argument for Gas Stoves.

EDITORIAL TRANSCRIPT—I noticed with much interest the communication recently published by the TRANSCRIPT from "Labor Saving Housewife" giving ten splendid reasons for using a gas stove in the kitchen. I can heartily concur in all that she says in favor of the gas stove. I have tried such a stove for the first time in my kitchen for the past two months and I must say I would not do without it for ten times its cost. I do not exaggerate when I say that the last two months are the happiest two months of the ten years of my housekeeping. I do my own work and have done the kitchen work in about half the time it formerly took me.

Without trespassing too much on your space I wish to give a few additional reasons which lead me to urge the gas stove on all my housekeeping friends:

- 1 The gas stove is the creation of genius. Using it encourages the inventive spirit.
- 2 It is our duty, as progressive citizens, not to be satisfied with doing things in the old fashioned slow ways of our grandmothers.
- 3 The gas stove gives us more sleep in the morning. Breakfast is cooked so much quicker.
- 4 It saves muscle. My husband is thoughtful but often forgot to lug the coal and wood up.
- 5 It is pleasant. Keeps all the family better natured and happier in disposition.
- 6 It easily does the work for a large family. Mine is seven, and with ten we could get along nicely.
- 7 It saves money. And will save more, as I understand that the North Adams Gas company is going to reduce the price of gas for stove use as soon as it gets in use a certain number of more stoves—100, I think.
- 8 It enables us to have warm meals with as little trouble as we had in the old way getting a cold supper or lunch.
- 9 It saves all the dirt of a coal or wood fire and the hauling away of ashes.
- 10 It is never out of order. Mine has worked like a charm ever since I put it in.

Your paper, which is now already a great help and full of good suggestions to housewives can do nothing better for them than to urge them all to the use of a gas stove in the kitchen. ECONOMY

A Challenge.

MR. W. V. BURDETT North Adams, Mass. DEAR SIR—The workers of the North Adams TRANSCRIPT have heard with regret of your boastings upon the part of the furniture trade of the city of prowess on the baseball field. In fact we are so thoroughly convinced that your boastings are vain that we hereby openly dispute your superiority in that field. You may be, some of you, up in the handling of corpses and may know a good couch for lazy people when you see one, but we doubt whether you know much about such active pursuits as baseball. The TRANSCRIPT force of workers say this and doubt whether you have nerve to dispute our position. We are willing to see whether you or we pay for the "armistice" and other trappings incidental to a game between the TRANSCRIPT and the furniture trade. We won't need embalming fluid—but that's not saying you won't.

We dare you,
